Sage understands the unique challenges nonprofit organizations face. Nonprofit solutions from Sage help organizations advance their missions while demonstrating accountability and stewardship. No matter what the size or type of organization, there's a Sage Nonprofit Solution to help manage development programs, operations, and accounting.

A COLLABORATIVE ECOSYSTEM TO HELP OUR CUSTOMERS THRIVE.

The core tenet of the Sage approach is that we provide customers with an unmatched range of expertise, support, training, collaboration, and innovation. Becoming part of this ecosystem—which includes Sage people, programs, and resources; a vibrant network of partners, consultants, and developers; authorized training facilities; and software user communities—enables our customers to get the most out of their investment. Examples of resources within the Sage ecosystem include:

Sage Business Care – Our software assurance and support program helps customers reduce the time, resources, effort, and cost of operating their software. Benefits of the program include upgrades and enhancements, technical and non-technical support, access to an online Knowledgebase, and more.

Consultant and Partner Network – The Sage global partner network consists of 40,000 accountants and 26,000 business partners and consultants who share a common goal: to drive success for our customers from implementation to support.

Sage Partner Solutions Source – Many challenges can be addressed by a core Sage solution or service. Others may require highly specialized add-on components developed within our development partner community that includes hundreds of independent software developers. Sage Partner Solutions Source is an online marketplace that makes it easy to search for, purchase, and capitalize on these innovations.

Internet User Communities – These online resources enable product users to share tips and interact with one another through a variety of communication forums and tools, including blogs and forums.

Sage University – To help our customers improve their software proficiency, we offer a variety of training options through Sage University and affiliated authorized training centers. Courses are offered online, on-site, and in a classroom setting.

Conferences – Each year, Sage hosts user and partner conferences to help customers and business partners build professional networks and refine their software skills in a rich, collaborative learning environment.

A COLLABORATIVE SAGE ECOSYSTEM

The Sage ecosystem is a collaborative network of business partners, development partners, accounting firms, and user communities that delivers value to customers via a broad range of customized products, services, and interactions.
